INFORMATION FOR THE MEDIA

On behalf of the Sacramento Kings, welcome to the 1990-91 National Basketball Association season. The Kings appreciate the cooperation and coverage we've been afforded and look forward to our sixth year of operation in Sacramento. We ask you to abide by the following guidelines so that we might run our operation as smoothly as possible and thus allow you the best possible working conditions.

- Media credentials are issued to working media only. All season and individual game credential holders should enter through the southeast security entrance at the media will-call. It opens two and one-half hours prior to the game (5:00 p.m. for 7:30 games.) Special arrangements for television crews should be confirmed in advance. All credentials are non-transferable, and any unauthorized use will subject bearer to ejection from ARCO Arena and confiscation of the pass.
- Season media passes will be issued to recognized newspapers, magazines, television and radio outlets making reasonable requests on company letterhead. Please indicate those persons that will be using each pass. It is imperative that season pass holders notify this office of their intentions to cover a game in order to reserve press seating.
- Individual game credentials should be requested a minimum of 30 hours prior to game time or by 1:30 p.m. Friday for all weekend and Monday contests. Pre-arranged passes may be picked up at the media will-call located inside the southeast lower level security entrance. Absolutely NO passes will be issued on game day. Credentials will be issued on an availability-only basis.
- Credentials are good for admittance to the arena, media room and both locker rooms. Both the Kings and visiting locker rooms will be open up to 45 minutes before the game and then again 10 minutes after the game. Your cooperation is asked in maintaining a working atmosphere.
- Interviews which need advance preparation or special accommodation by a Kings player or staff member should be made by contacting the Kings publicity department. This includes all live television interviews for pre- and post-game.
- Photo credentials will be issued in the same manner as other passes. Weekly papers and magazines on assignment may obtain passes by having the photo editor request a single game credential. It is club policy NOT to allow freelance photographers access. ALL photographers must have on a red arm band in order to gain floor access. The arm bands can be obtained at the media will-call check-in.
- Telephones for the working media should be ordered through Rod Boles at California Telephone (707) 447-2377.
- Facsimile service is available by contacting the Kings publicity department prior to the game.
- Statisticians are available to assist radio and television broadcasters by contacting the Kings publicity department. These services must be arranged for in advance, and once they are made, the statistician must be compensated whether or not used.

I hope that this outline of procedures and guidelines will assist you in your coverage of the National Basketball Association in ARCO Arena. Please don't hesitate to call on the publicity department if you need additional assistance.

FRANCHISE HISTORY OF OWNERSHIP

The 1990-91 campaign marks the 43rd year of consecutive franchise operation, and the sixth in Sacramento. The Sacramento Kings are descended from one of the charter teams in the National Basketball Association: Rochester Royals, 1948-57 (10 years); Cincinnati Royals, 1958-72 (15 years); and the Kansas City Kings, 1972-85 (13 years).

From the franchise's inception in the NBA in 1948 and through its tenure in Rochester and first season in Cincinnati, the club was owned by Les Harrison. He was also the first head coach of the franchise including 1950-51 when the club reigned as NBA World Champions. After the franchise's move to Cincinnati it became a public corporation, the Cincinnati Basketball Club Company, under the direction of Tom Grace. It stayed a public owned company until 1966 when Max and Jeremy Jacobs, prominent Buffalo, New York concessions brothers, bought the club. They continued ownership of the club for six years, through its move to Kansas City in 1972-73.

In 1973 a group of 10 local businessmen purchased the club for an excess of $5 million. The owners included: Frank R. Armanees, Clay C. Blair, Ray Evans, Herbert R. Jacobson, Leon Karosen, Robert J. Margolin, John T. Muir, H. Paul Rosenberg, Truman Sloan, and Leonard H. Strauss. In May 1982, after nine years, the ownership was restructured to include only three of the original Kansas City partners — Karosen, Rosenberg, and Margolin. In August 1982, the ownership was again restructured, adding three New York businessmen, B. Gerald Cantor, Irwin Feiner, and Al A. Steinberg.

On June 8, 1983, the Kings were sold to six Sacramento businessmen: Joseph Benvenuti, Frank and Gregg Lukenbill, Bob A. Cook, Frank McCormack, and Stephen H. Cippa. The cost — $10.5 million. January 21, 1985, they petitioned the NBA for permission to relocate the franchise in Sacramento. April 16, 1985, the NBA Board of Governors granted permission unanimously, and October 25, 1985, the first-ever NBA basketball game was played at ARCO Arena before a sold-out crowd.

In September, 1987, the original Sacramento ownership group was restructured to include five of the six original Sacramento owners. They are JOSEPH BENVENUTI, the majority owner, and owner of JB Company, a commercial-industrial development firm; GREGG LUKENBILL, managing general partner of the ownership group and partner with his father and owner FRANK LUKENBILL, in Lukenbill Enterprises, a real estate development firm; BOB A. COOK, owner of Bob Cook Company, a commercial real estate development company; and STEVE CIPPA, a real estate broker for Coldwell Banker.

NBA SALARY CAP RAISED TO $11,871,000 FOR 1990-91 SEASON

The salary cap that will apply to NBA teams for the 1990-91 season will be $11,871,000, an increase of more than $2 million over last season's cap of $9,802,000.

In addition, in order to ensure that the NBA players receive 53 percent of league revenues, the minimum team salary that teams will be required to spend will be raised to $9,610,000 up from last year's $7,935,000.

The determinations of the salary cap and minimum team salaries are made each July 31 on the basis of formulas set forth in the Collective Bargaining Agreement between the league and the Players Association.

The salary cap of $9,802,000 and the minimum of $7,352,000 will apply to all teams except for Minnesota and Orlando, which began play a year ago as expansion teams. For Minnesota and Orlando the cap will be $8,903,000 and the minimum $7,208,000 (two-thirds of the league figures).

RICK BENNER — President

The Kings are going in a new direction and the man at the helm is Rick Benner. A member of the Kings management team since 1983, Benner's seven-year tenure has coincided with the prosperous growth years of the NBA. No longer is a professional basketball franchise simple entertainment, it is now a multi-million dollar business. With both franchise values and player salaries increasing ten-fold over the past decade, it takes an astute businessman with savvy financial knowledge to keep a franchise on track. In Sacramento, that man is Benner.

Named President of the Kings and ARCO Arena in December of 1989 after a reorganization of upper management, Benner, 34, oversees the overall operation of the Kings Basketball Club, the ARCO Arena, and the ARCO Sports Complex. One of the youngest presidents of any professional sports team, Benner has been intricately involved with the Kings business and marketing philosophies since he joined the club in June of 1983. Prior to his appointment as president, Benner was the executive vice-president of the Kings and ARCO Arena with responsibility for the financial disposition of both entities. That included active involvement in player contract negotiations and executor of the salary cap.

Benner is now responsible for all negotiations of player contracts and oversees all player personnel decisions. In his first season with full contract control he had an unprecedented four first-round draft picks to sign, a Herculean task even a seasoned veteran would find challenging. He won't claim to be a basketball guru, instead what he will claim is that he has assembled a solid basketball staff and has the framework in place for implementing sound basketball decisions. He also oversees the Kings sales, marketing, and public relations efforts and the overall operation of the ARCO Arena.

Benner currently serves as a member of the Advisory Commission on Franchises for the Senate Committee of California State Legislature on Insurance Claims and Corporations. He joined the Kings' management team in June 1983, while the club was located in Kansas City. Previous to that he was employed by Coopers & Lybrand, an international public accounting firm. A certified public accountant, the Kansas City, Missouri native graduated magna cum laude from the University of Missouri-Columbia in 1978. An avid boater, Benner enjoys a range of recreational activities. He resides in Roseville.

JERRY REYNOLDS
Director of Player Personnel

One of the key architects of the revamped Sacramento Kings, Jerry Reynolds assumed his position as player personnel director in December of 1989. Since that time he has consummated deals that changed over three-quarters of the roster in a five-month span.

In December when the Kings reorganized their upper management and basketball operations Reynolds was given an option to remain as coach, or assume his current position. The decision to move to the front office as the player personnel director is one he hasn't regretted and thoroughly enjoys. Reynolds' eye for basketball talent and charismic personality make him ideal for his position. The liaison between the club and all other NBA personnel directors, Reynolds is now as at home on a telephone as he is on the hardwood. That's not to say he doesn't spend time in the basketball arena; he does, now keeping abreast of both the NBA and collegiate talent pools.

Reynolds had been head coach of the Kings for a portion of four seasons (1987-1990) and accumulated a 55-107 (.340) record. Only twice did he begin the year as head coach and only once did he finish a complete season. Respected for his straight forward approach and witty sense of humor, Reynolds was called on repeatedly in the past years during periods of turbulent changes in the franchise.

On two occasions he served as head coach following mid-season changes. In 1987 he replaced Phil Johnson on an interim basis and in 1988 he replaced Bill Russell. In his first stint as interim head coach, he guided the club to a 15-21 (.417) in the final 36 games. In his second relief situation, and minus the interim status, he led the club to a 7-17 record in the final 24 games after taking over a team decimated with injuries.

Associated with basketball nearly a quarter of a century, the 20-year veteran of college coaching served 10 years as a head coach. He joined the Kings in 1985 after a one-year stop at Pittsburg State (Kansas) where he led the club to a 16-14 mark, the school's first winning season in nine years. Prior to that he served as head coach at Rockhurst College (Kansas City, Missouri) for nine seasons where he posted a 182-74 record and was heralded as the winningest coach in the school's 64-year history. During his span at Rockhurst he never had a team fall below the .500 mark, and on two occasions directed his teams to NAIA tournament appearances.

Reynolds was the assistant coach and recruiting coordinator at West Georgia State from 1972-75, and in 1974 the club won the NAIA Championship. From 1967-72, he served as an assistant coach at Vincennes Junior College in Indiana where he was involved with two National Junior College Championship teams (1970 and 1972). Former NBA veteran Bob McAdoo was a member of the 1970 club and current pro Rickey Green was on the 1972 squad.

Reynolds is often referred to as French Lick's, (Indiana) second most popular native next to famed NBA star Larry Bird. Extremely popular with the public and the press, Reynolds is a favorite on the public speaking circuit. A recreational tennis player and avid movie goer, Reynolds is well known for his popcorn passion. A graduate of Oakland City College (IN) in 1966, he received his master's degree in physical education from Indiana State University in 1970. He and his wife Dodie have a son Jay, 21, at California State University, Sacramento, and daughter Danielle, nine. The Reynolds reside in Roseville. His birthdate is January 29, 1944.

DICK MOTTA Head Coach

If timing is everything, then that explains how the Kings secured Dick Motta, the third all-time winningest coach in the National Basketball Association and the winningest active coach in the NBA today.

One might wonder why a 58-year old financially secure coach would come out of retirement to take over a club that was 7-21 and had failed to win over 30 games in the previous three seasons. Add to that, at the time he came out of retirement he was enjoying the NBA game as a color analyst for the World Champion Detroit Pistons. His retirement resume also included cross country bicycling, serving as an international basketball clinician in Europe and Australia, corporate speaking, and dabbling as a chocolate entrepreneur in his personally owned Logan, Utah chocolate factory. So it's understandable why one might wonder. But only one who doesn't know Dick Motta.

Quite simply Motta's a coach. The time was right to return to the hardwood and to teaching the game that he has been involved in for 34 years. The cliche "born a coach" was probably invented for him. Motta's that breed of coach that thrives on the competition of the game, the personal challenge of building a team into a contender, and preparing his players both physically and mentally every night. He's a coach who considers his practices his laboratory, and is almost as exhilarated in the practice gym as he is in the final few minutes of a game on the line.

In December of 1989, the Kings upper management was reorganized which included then-Head Coach Jerry Reynold's decision to assume the vacant position of player personnel director. The Kings were in search of Reynold's successor. They wanted a proven head coach with an undisputed track record, a coach that wasn't afraid of rebuilding. On January 4, 1990, Motta came out of retirement. His appointment brought instant credibility to the franchise and those in management who hired him.

Motta, a 20-year veteran of the NBA, directed the Kings to a 16-38 record (10-15 home, 6-23 road) in the final 44 games. It didn't take long for Motta to live up to his reputation as a (re)builder. In fact in the six-month span following his appointment, three-quarters of the Kings roster was new including an unprecedented four first-round draft picks.

Motta's overall coaching record is 824-788 (.511). Only Red Auerbach (938) and Jack Ramsey (864) have won more regular season games and only Auerbach (165), Pat Riley (149), and K.C. Jones (133) have coached in more playoff games than Motta's 126. He directed each of the three previous clubs he coached to division championships and posted at least one 50-plus win season with all of them. In NBA history only 10 NBA teams have improved four straight years. He has coached two of them.

A successful college coach at Weber State University (1962-68), Motta recorded a 120-33 (.784) mark in six seasons, thrice winning the Big Sky Conference Title.

Motta's pro coaching career started in 1968 with the Chicago Bulls. In fact the first NBA game he ever saw, was the first he ever coached, at the age of 37. In eight years with the Bulls he directed the club to four 50-plus win seasons and playoff berths in six of his eight years. It included a Midwest Division Title in 1974-75 and Coach of the Year honors in 1971.

In 1976 he was named the coach of the Washington Bullets. During his four seasons at the helm there, he led the Bullets to the NBA Championship Finals twice. The Bullets defeated Seattle 4-3 in 1978 for the title, but fell 4-1 the following season to the SuperSonics. During his tenure there the Bullets also won the Atlantic Division Title in 1979. It was during his reign in Washington that he made the now famous statement, "The opera ain't over 'til the Fat Lady sings," as a word of caution after his Bullets jumped ahead of Philly 3-1 in the 1978 Eastern Conference Finals.

On July 16, 1980, Motta was named the first head coach of the Dallas Mavericks. In only their fourth season of existence, 1983-84, Motta's Mavericks posted a winning record (43-39) and advanced to the playoffs for the first time in franchise history, where they eliminated Seattle in the first round. He led his club to 44-38 records in the following two seasons and a 55-27 record and Midwest Division title in 1987, his seventh and final season as the Mavericks head coach. He remained a consultant for the Mavericks until joining the Kings.

The oldest son of an Italian farmer, John Richard Motta was born September 3, 1931 in Midvale, Utah (population 205). He began his coaching career at Idaho's Grace High School after a stint in the Air Force. He says winning the 1959 Class AA Idaho high school title, with former Kings coach Phil Johnson as his star, is still his biggest thrill. Originally Motta aspired to coach wrestling or football after being cut from his high school basketball team as a senior, and then four-straight years at Utah State.

He and his wife Janice own the BlueBird Chocolate Factory in Logan, Utah, an endeavor which Janice remains active. During the summer the Mottas reside in Fish Haven, Idaho on Bear Lake. It provides the starting point for the family's annual 600-mile bicycle trip through Yellowstone National Park.

Motta is an ardent supporter of Muscular Dystrophy Association and served as the honorary host for the First Annual Sacramento Sports Salute: Past Present and Future, a Benefit for Muscular Dystrophy this past June. This past February, at the Sacramento Regional Pride Awards, he pledged $500 to the children's fund for every Kings win the rest of the season. The total reached $4000, but disappointingly under his expectations.

Motta and his wife Janice have three children: Kip, an assistant coach and scout with the Seattle SuperSonics; Jodi, a flight attendant for American Airlines; and Kirt, a student at Utah State. The Mottas have two grandchildren. Motta and his wife reside in Sacramento.

Active Coaches In All CAPS

REX HUGHES — Assistant Coach

A veteran coach with 26 years of basketball experience, Rex Hughes joined the Kings as Dick Motta's assistant in August of 1990. Most recently, Hughes served as the head scout with the Atlanta Hawks. Hughes is familiar with the Kings organization as he served as a part-time advance NBA scout in 1987-88. That same year he also was a scout with Marty Blake and Associates, the official scouting service of the NBA.

Hughes' coaching career began in 1964 as the head coach at Redondo Beach (CA) High School. He was there four years before a one-year stint as head coach at Long Beach (CA) City College in 1968. Hughes spent the next five years as an assistant coach at Nebraska (1969-71), under Joe Cipriano, and Southern California (1972-74), under Bob Boyd. While at Southern California, the Trojans made the National Invitational Tournament in 1973 and the Commissioners Tournament in 1974. The 1974 team made it to the finals before losing to Indiana. His first major college head coaching job came in 1974 at Kent State, a position he held for four years.

He was the general manager and head coach of the Montana Sky of the Western Basketball Association in 1978-79. After the league folded, Hughes returned to the college ranks as an assistant at UNLV, under Jerry Tarkanian, for one season. There he coached current Orlando Magic forward Sidney Greene, who was a freshman at the time. From 1980-87, Hughes entered private business before a return to basketball in 1987.

Hughes received his degree in physical education from Pepperdine in 1961 and returned to his alma mater for his master's degree in education 1966. A native of Hermosa Beach, California, he and his wife Patti have two sons, Jeff and Rich.

BILL BERRY — Assistant Coach, Scout

Bill Berry enters his second season with the Kings and first as an assistant coach, scout. Berry's responsibilities will be split between bench coaching and advance NBA scouting.

A 20-year veteran college coach, Berry began his career in Sacramento, almost a quarter century ago at Highlands High School (1966-69). In fact he spent five of his first six years as a basketball coach in Sacramento which included being the first-ever head coach at Cosumnes River Junior College (1970-72).

Prior to joining the Kings Berry served 10-years at the helm of San Jose State where he was credited with reviving the school's basketball program. Overall he compiled a 142-144 overall record, which included six seasons of .500 or better records. His impact at SJSU was immediate. In only his first-season, he led the club to a 17-12 record and the NCAA tournament for the first time since 1951. The school made it's first-ever NIT appearance in his second season. Also during his tenure, the club won its first-ever conference basketball tournament title, their first conference championship of any kind in 31 years, posted the school's first 20-win season in 31 years and was named the Pacific Coast Athletic Association "Co-Coach of the year." His 142 total wins ranks second behind only Walt McPherson's 251.

Preceding his SJSU tenure, Berry served as the top assistant for two years at Michigan State (1977-79) During that time Michigan State--led by Earvin Johnson--won two conference titles, appeared in two NCAA Tournaments and captured the 1979 national championship. From 1972-1977, Berry served as an assistant at the University of California, Berkeley.

A two-sport athlete--track and basketball--Berry received his bachelor's degree in physical education in 1965. He returned to his alma mater in 1969 and secured a master's degree, again in physical education, while working as a graduate assistant in the basketball program. A native of Winnemucca, Nevada, he and his wife Clarice have a grown daughter, Pam.

BILL JONES — Trainer

He's never seen a minute of playing time, nor plotted a strategic X or O, but trainer Bill Jones' capable handling of the team's physical conditioning, diagnosis of injuries and their treatment are equally important to the club's success. Coordinator for all aspects of the training room operations, he is also responsible for the accommodations of the club's travel schedule.

In his 33rd season on the professional sports scene, this marks his 19th year with the Kings franchise. His career started in 1958 with Major League Baseball's Kansas City Athletics minor league system in Little Rock, Arkansas. After three years of duty in the club's farm system, he was elevated to the majors in Kansas City, in 1961. He remained with the A's for eight seasons which included the club's move to Oakland in 1968. After one year in California, Jones returned to Kansas City as the first trainer of baseball's new expansion club, the Kansas City Royals, a position he held for four years. In 1973, he accepted the position of trainer with the Kansas City Kings where he has remained since then.

A former partner and consultant in three sports medicine and treatment centers in Kansas City, Jones has been honored by his peers for his contributions to the sports medicine field. In 1985 he was inducted into the Missouri Sports Medicine Hall of Fame and was also honored by the Major League Baseball Trainers Association for outstanding service. A native of Hackett, Arkansas, he earned his physical education degree from College of the Ozarks in 1957. He and his wife Joyce, son Justin, eight, and daughter Jennifer, 20, reside in Roseville. He also has two grown daughters, Angela Driskoll and Connie Lippel.

SCOTTY STIRLING — Chief Scout

A veteran of the pro basketball business with over two decades of experience, Scotty Stirling brings a wealth of NBA knowledge and pro sports expertise to the Kings basketball staff. In his fourth season with the Kings and his second as chief scout, Stirling coordinates the club's scouting efforts with primary focus on the collegiate level.

Prior to his association with the Kings, Stirling served as the vice-president and general manager of the New York Knicks from January 1986 through May 1987. He was the vice-president, operations for the NBA league office in New York from 1982-85. In that capacity he supervised referees, oversaw rule implementation, NBA scheduling, and the NBA college scouting service. Stirling served as the assistant to the President of the Golden State Warriors and was responsible for the day-to-day operations and player-personnel decisions from 1976-82. Before working for the Warriors he was the General Manager of the Oakland Oaks of the ABA when the team won the 1968 ABA Championship.

Stirling also spent four years with the Oakland Raiders of the AFL, first as the assistant general manager, then the general manager working closely with Al Davis. In his final year with the club, the team won the AFL Championship and played Green Bay in the Super Bowl.

A graduate from the University of San Francisco, he received his master's degree from Adelphi University. He and his wife Pamela reside in Newark, California. He has three grown sons: Gord, Don, and Kevin.

JIM HADNOT — Video Coordinator, Scout

Jim Hadnot, video coordinator and scout, is responsible for securing and breaking down the video tape for both advance pro and college scouting. He also maintains an extensive video library of college NBA prospects and current NBA personnel. Hadnot, 49, joined the Kings in 1987 and provides experience as both a former player and coach.

A six-year veteran of college coaching, he had two year stints at the College of the Holy Names in Oakland, College of Alameda and Laney Junior College (in Oakland). Drafted by the Boston Celtics in 1962, Hadnot spent one summer in Boston before his return to Oakland. He was a two-year veteran of the Oakland Oaks of the American Basketball Association and in 1968, played on the ABA Championship team along with teammates Rick Barry, Doug Moe and Larry Brown. Alex Hannum was the coach and the Kings' Scotty Stirling was the General Manager.

A graduate of Providence College in 1962, he was a member of the 1961 National Invitational Tournament Championship Team. Other members of that team included Lenny Wilkens and John Thompson. An Oakland, California native, Hadnot attended McClymonds High School. Other fellow alumni were Bill Russell, Paul Silas, and baseball Hall of Famer Frank Robinson. He has three children: Julie, Dorian, and Shawn. His birthdate is January 15, 1940.

THE MANAGEMENT TEAM

MIKE DUNCAN, Vice-President Arena Operations, was promoted to his current position in January, 1990, after serving the previous year and a half as the arena booking manager. Responsible for the booking and operation of all ARCO Arena events, he oversees the day-to-day operations of the arena and it's staff. Duncan has been part of the Sacramento Sports Association since May 1985, when he assumed the position of community relations director of the Kings Basketball Club. He held that position for the club's first three years in Sacramento. A native of Sacramento, he graduated in 1980 from the University of Oregon. He served as the sports information director at California State University, Sacramento from 1980 to 1985. He and his wife Ivy reside in Sacramento.

TOM PETERSON, Vice-President Concessions Operations, has been associated with the Sacramento Sports Association since its inception. He joined the arena management team in April of 1985. He is responsible for the overall operations of the concession stands, restaurants, lounges, novelties, team store, catering and nightclub. He was involved in the design and set-up of concessions operations at both ARCO I and ARCO II. He previously worked in management with the City of Sacramento Parks and Recreation Department in the rendering industry. A native of Sacramento, Peterson and his wife Nancy have a son David, 12, and a daughter Ellen, seven.

JOE MARSALLA, Vice-President Marketing, joined the Kings management team in June of 1988. Responsible for overseeing the Kings marketing operation, his emphasis is on the sales of luxury suites, club boxes, major corporate sponsors and special projects. An economics graduate of University of California, Berkeley in 1979, Marsalla worked in Los Angeles and New York in the brokerage business. Before his return to Sacramento, he served as a consultant in the oil and chemical industries in Los Angeles. Prior to joining the Kings organization, he was employed as a marketer in the development group at Lukenbill Enterprises. He is a native of Sacramento.

STEVE SCHMIDT, Vice-President Finance, joined the Kings management team in January of 1990. He is responsible for the financial operations of both the Kings and ARCO Arena Sports Complex. Prior to joining the Kings, Schmidt was an audit manager with Ernst & Young, an international public accounting firm, a position he held for eight years. A certified public accountant, he served a variety of clients concentrating primarily in the telephone, high-tech and entertainment industries. Included on his client list were the Sacramento Kings and ARCO Arena. A Los Angeles native, Schmidt graduated magna cum laude from California State University, Northridge in 1981. He and his wife Merrie have three children Johnathan, eight, Gretchen, five, and Danny, two.

JULIE FIE, Director of Public Relations, is in her 10th season with the Kings organization. Responsible for the overall public and media relations of the club, and its management and players, she coordinates the media interviews, commercial endorsements, charity involvement and oversees the booking of appearances. Fie writes and edits news releases, game notes, media guides and the HOOP game program; and supervises the press accommodations and the statistical crew at all home games. Joining the club in August 1981, as the assistant director of public relations for the Kansas City Kings, she assumed her current position in 1982. A communications graduate from Iowa State University, Fie spent two years as an undergraduate with the ISU sports information department before joining the club. She is a native of Jefferson, Iowa.

PHILIP HESS, Director of Ticket Sales and Customer Relations, joined the Kings organization in 1983 as assistant sales manager and was promoted to his current position upon the club's move to Sacramento. He is responsible for all aspects of ticketing, which include the servicing of all season ticket accounts, distribution of community night and group tickets, and the overseeing of individual game ticket sales. With a season ticket base of better than 15,000 tickets and a consecutive sellout streak of 210, Hess has had his hands full since the move West. In 1982-83, prior to joining the Kings, he was an account representative with the Detroit Pistons of the NBA. A political science major, Hess graduated from Manchester College in 1978 and received a master's degree in athletic administration from Western Illinois University in 1987. He is a native of South Bend, Indiana.

THE MANAGEMENT TEAM

MICHAEL HANSEN, Director of Broadcasting, has been with the Kings since their arrival in 1985. In his sixth season with the Kings, he originally came on board as an intern in the publicity department while completing his master's degree in business at Sacramento State University. Following that two-year stint, Hansen was brought on staff full time as the assistant director of marketing and was promoted to director of marketing in 1989. Named to his current position this past summer, Hansen serves as the liason between the Kings and their radio, television and cable stations–KFBK-Radio, KRBK-TV, and Pacific West Cable–and coordinates sponsor involvement in a variety of special events. He also assists in the development of the radio network and evaluation of radio and television broadcasts. Hansen is a native of Dixon, California.

SALLY SIMONDS, Director of Promotions and Game Operations, is a five-year veteran of the NBA. She began her second stint with the Kings in November, 1988. She coordinates the game-night promotions and entertainment along with sales of community sponsorship packages and ARCO Arena signage. Originally the first person employed in Sacramento by the Kings, Simonds assisted in the initial set-up of the team's move from Kansas City. Simonds spent two years with the Seattle SuperSonics (1986-88) before returning to the Kings. A veteran in the world of sports, including positions with All-America Basketball Alliance, Vista Sports Programming and Publicity Enterprises, she was promoted to her current position this past summer. Simonds is a native of Williamstown, Massachusetts.

BROADCASTERS

GARY GEROULD, Radio Play-By-Play, has been the "voice of the Kings" since the team's arrival in 1985. A professional in every sense of the word, Gerould's talents and work ethic keep him criss-crossing the country as both the Kings play-by-play announcer and as a sportscaster for ABC and ESPN networks with special expertise in motor sports. This past summer Gerould was part of TBS's broadcast team for the Goodwill Games in Seattle. Prior to joining ABC, Gerould spent 11 years at NBC and was a member of the network's broadcast team for the XXIV Olympic Games in Seoul.

Gerould's broadcasting career dates back to calling play-by-play in high school for the local radio station. A speech and physical education graduate at Anderson College (IN), he headed west to Chico, California in 1963. He joined KHSL radio, initially as a disc jockey, but shortly thereafter became the news and sports director for the station...There he called play-by-play for Chico State basketball and broadcast weeknight sports on KHSL television. In 1965, he moved to Sacramento and joined KCRA's television sports department, a position he held for 12 years. During that span he also called play-by-play for Sacramento State in both basketball and football. In 1977, he formed Gary Gerould Enterprises and since then has freelanced as a public relations consultant, commercial spokesman, and motor sports writer and broadcaster, in addition to his Kings and network responsibilities.

TIM ROYE, Radio Pre-Game/Post-Game Host, is in his second season with the Kings. Named the sports director at KFBK in September 1989, Roye hosts the pre and post-game (Kings Rap) shows for all 82 broadcasts and calls play-by-play when Gary Gerould has schedule conflicts with ABC and ESPN. Roye also hosts "SportsTalk," Sacramento's only daily radio sports talk show weeknights from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Prior to joining KFBK, he spent two years as the sports talk show host for KTAR radio, the broadcast home of the Phoenix Suns, in Arizona. While there he hosted "SportsLine", the post-game talk show on the Phoenix Cardinals radio network, served as color commentator for the Arizona State University Basketball Networks and called play-by-play for the Phoenix Firebirds and Arizona State University baseball teams. From 1986-87, Roye was the sports director at WVOK radio in Birmingham, Alabama. There he hosted a weekday sports talk program and a "halftime show" for the University of Alabama-Birmingham Basketball network. He spent eight years from 1978-86 as the sports director at WIBX-WNYZ radio in Utica, New York. A graduate of Utica College in New York, Roye is a native of Chula Vista, California.

GRANT NAPEAR, Television Play-By-Play, is in his third season calling the action for the Kings on KRBK-TV, Channel 31. The sports director at KRBK-TV, since August 1987, he will also call play-by-play for the University of California, Davis football broadcasts and fill in on Kings Rap when Tim Roye has scheduling conflicts. Prior to joining KRBK-TV—from 1984-87—Napear worked at WAND-TV in Decatur, Illinois, where he anchored weekend sports and called play-by-play for the Illinois High School Football State Finals on television. A graduate of Bowling Green University (Ohio), he called the school's play-by-play for football, basketball and hockey for six years, four while still an undergraduate. His first broadcasting job came as a sophomore in high school when he called play-by-play for basketball on the school radio station. Napear is a Syosset, New York native.

TED GREEN, Television Color Analyst, returns for his third season as the commentator for all 30 televised games on KRBK. Covering the NBA for over a decade in both the print and electronic media, Green brings a unique inside perspective of the NBA to the viewers. Along with his commitment to KRBK-TV, Green also serves as the NBA national writer and columnist for THE NATIONAL sports daily and is the pro basketball analyst on ESPN'S national "Sports Look" show. He was the producer for "Sports Look" which won the ACE Award in 1989 as the best sports show on television. Nominated for 27 Emmy Awards in his career, he's won seven including four as a producer of the (Los Angeles) Laker pre-game show which he's worked on the last three seasons. His other Emmy Awards came for writing sports specials and documentaries.

He was a member of the Laker's ONTV cable home broadcasts from 1979-85. He was also a commentator on Clippers radio and television broadcasts from 1983-86 and served as the sports anchor at KCOP-TV, in Los Angeles for two years, 1985-86. He worked 10 years as a reporter with the LOS ANGELES TIMES, six of which were covering the NBA beat. A native of New York, the UCLA graduate resides in Woodland Hills, California, with his wife Gail and children Elisabeth, Matthew and Ricky.

BROADCASTERS

CARL ARKY, Cable Play-By-Play, is in his second season with the Kings. Arky has been an NBA broadcaster since 1987, when he served as the color commentator for the Utah Jazz radio and television games. In 1988, Arky became the Jazz' director of broadcasting where he produced the Jazz broadcasts, was the executive producer for JazzTalk and SportsTalk and oversaw all Jazz video productions for in-house use and over the air and cable broadcasts. He held that position until December of last year when he joined Pacific West Cable in their inaugural start-up of Kings broadcasts.

Prior to joining the Jazz, he worked as a sports anchor at Salt Lake City's NBA affiliate KUTV , a position he held for five years. There he was the receipient of a regional Emmy award for sports programming. He has also worked at stations in Houston, Dallas and Tulsa.

Arky is the owner of his own production company, Carl Arky Productions (CAP). He and his wife, Deborah, live in Littleton, Colorado and are the parents of one son, Jacob.

RICH KELLEY, Cable Color Analyst, is in his second season with Pacific West Cable calling the action alongside Carl Arky. Kelley will provide analysis on all 25 games broadcast from ARCO Arena. An 11-year veteran of professional basketball (1975-76 through 1985-86), Kelley played with New Orleans, New Jersey, Phoenix, Denver, Utah and finished his career in Sacramento in 1985-86, the Kings inaugural season in Northern California. As a pro he averaged 7.6 points and 7.0 rebounds over his career. His best season came in 1978-79 with the New Orleans Jazz when he averaged career-highs in scoring (15.7) and rebounding (12.8--second in the NBA). An Academic All-American while at Stanford, Kelley earned his degree in psychology. Upon completion of his pro playing career Kelley returned to his alma mater and obtained his master's degree in business in 1989. A self-employed real estate investor, he and his wife Gina have one daughter, Riley. They reside in Woodside, CA.

NBA ATTENDANCE UP FOR SEVENTH STRAIGHT YEAR

For the second consecutive season the Sacramento Kings set an all-time franchise attendance mark during the 1989-90 season. The Kings were one of 11 teams to break attendance figures and one of only nine teams to sell out every home game.

The National Basketball Association, boosted by expansion teams Minnesota and Orlando, set an all-time record attendance of 17,368,659. The increase of 12.3 percent from a year ago is the seventh straight season of record turnouts at NBA games.

Leading the league in attendance and setting an all-time league high for a single season was Minnesota, which drew 1,072,572, an average of 26,160 per game. San Antonio enjoyed the biggest increase from the previous season by averaging 14,722 fans per game, up 31.4 percent from1988-89. The league-wide average hit an all-time high of 15,690—a 54 percent increase over attendance marks set in 1982-83. By comparison, the league drew an average of 7,563 in 1970 and 5,008 per game in 1960.

1989-90 KEY DATES AND TRANSACTIONS

October 6—The Kings opened training camp in Honolulu, Hawaii with 14 players in camp. Restricted free agent Wayman Tisdale and No. 1 draft pick Pervis Ellison were not in attendance pending contract negotiations. October 26—Tisdale and Ellison signed multi-year contracts. Second-year player Ben Gillery and free agents Luther Burks and Wayne Casey were released bringing the roster to 13 players. November 2—The Kings waived Jawann Oldham and reached the 12-man roster limit. November 25—Ralph Sampson was placed on the injured list in order to rehabilitate his knees. Veteran free-agent center Greg Kite was signed to a contract for the remainder of the season. December 7—Foot specialist Dr. Roger Mann examined the foot of Ellison and determined that absolute rest was needed. It was hopeful that he would begin practicing at the end of January. To date Ellison had played in only four games. December 12—Pacific West Cable, the Kings cable system, broadcast the first of 20 home games. December 16—The Kings placed Ellison on the injured list. In other moves, the Kings released forward Greg Stokes and signed free agent Mike Williams to a contract for the rest of the season. December 19—Managing General Partner Gregg Lukenbill announced a re-organization of the Kings management and named Rick Benner president of the Kings and ARCO Arena. Head Coach Jerry Reynolds assumed the position of director of player personnel and it was announced he would eventually relinquish his head coach position. Bill Russell was released from his position as vice-president of basketball operations. January 4—Dick Motta, the third winningest coach in NBA history, was named head coach of the Sacramento Kings. Motta replaced Reynolds. January 12—The Kings activated Sampson from the injured list. January 22—The Kings shot a KC-Sac-era record .647 field goal percentage in a win over the LA Clippers 136-104. January 24—The Kings defeated Golden State 129-99, recording back-to-back 30-plus point victories, a franchise first. February 10—Kings guard Kenny Smith finished second in the Gatorade Slam-Dunk contest during All-Star Weekend in Miami, only the second King to participate in All-Star Weekend since the team moved to Sacramento. February 13—The Kings acquired forward Antoine Carr, guard Sedric Toney and a second-round draft pick in 1991 in exchange for Smith and forward (Mike) Williams. February 17—Guard Danny Ainge and Utah guard Delaney Rudd were ejected for fighting. Both were subsequently fined: Ainge $2000 for initiating the altercation and throwing a punch and Rudd $1500. February 23—Guard Michael Jackson was placed on the injured list with a sprained left ankle and Ellison was activated from the injured list. March 6—Tisdale scored 40 points in a 101-91 loss in Detroit. Tisdale made 19 of 23 field goals—all 15 in the second half—and set a Sacramento-era record for most consecutive field goals made in a game. March 13—The Kings defeated Miami 121-87, the second-largest victory margin in the Sacramento-era. The game also marked the 200th consecutive sellout in Sacramento. March 17—The Kings set an all-time NBA record by scoring 24 points in overtime to defeat Utah 122-109. March 22—It was announced Sampson would not travel with the team for the remainder of the season so he could continue his daily training routine. He remained on the active roster. April 21—The Kings closed out their fifth season in Sacramento with 210 consecutive sellouts. The Kings set a single season franchise attendance record of 697,574 (average 17,014). June 3—Kareem Abdul-Jabbar was the keynote speaker at the Sacramento Basketball Banquet IV. Forward Rodney McCray was named the Kings Player-of-the-Year as selected by the fans. June 25—The Kings were involded in a three-team trade with Washington and Utah. Sacramento acquired guard Bobby Hansen and center Eric Leckner of Utah, the Jazz' first (#23) and second (#49) round picks in 1990, and Washington's second-round pick in 1991. Washington received Kings center Pervis Ellison and Utah received Bullet guard Jeff Malone and the Kings second-round pick in 1990 (#33). June 26—The Kings acquired two more first-round draft picks in 1990 (#14 & #18) along with center Bill Wennington from Dallas in exchange for forward Rodney McCray, both a 1990 (#49) and a 1991 second-round draft picks. June 27—Sacramento made NBA history by becoming the first team to have four first-round draft choices. They selected LaSalle forward Lionel Simmons (#7), Texas guard Travis Mays (#14), Temple center Duane Causwell (#18) and St. Louis forward Anthony Bonner (#23). In the second round of the draft, the Kings selected Vernel "Bimbo" Coles from Virginia Tech and immediately traded his rights to Miami in exchange for veteran guard Rory Sparrow. July 21—The Kings participated in the Rocky Mountain Review in Salt Lake City along with teams from Portland, Phoenix and Utah. July 9—The Kings waived guards Jackson and Toney, and forward Randy Allen. July 29—Restricted free agent Vinny Del Negro signed a contract with Benetton of the Italian league. August 1—The Kings acquired guard Byron Irvin, a 1991 first-round draft pick and 1992 second-round pick and future considerations from Portland in exchange for veteran guard Danny Ainge. August 7—The Kings named Rex Hughes assistant coach. August 9—Harold Pressley signed a contract to play with Club Joyehtut Dadlona of Barcelona in the Spanish League.

Kings Basketball is televised by KRBK-TV 31.
The club's flagship radio station is KFBK-1530 AM

AMERICA IS MORE THAN RED, WHITE AND BLUE.

It's Black. Brown. Yellow. White. It's a heart-warming array of colors. It's people of all descents joining together, helping one another and living in harmony.
The spirit of internationalism is everywhere you look.
ARCO applauds all the people of America for being the greatest combination of colors in the world.

ARCO

KEY DATES AND TRANSACTIONS

1978-79

May 10—Kings announced the hiring of Lowell "Cotton" Fitzsimmons. June 9–In the second pick in the college draft, Kings selected College Basketball Player of the Year, Phil Ford. September 29—The Kings and Ford came to terms; and he joined the club. October 19—Kings opened the home season with 108-103 victory over Houston. They announced 4, 069 season tickets, the most in the 31-year franchise history. December 2—The Kings were on the road vs. the World Champion Washington Bullets who were going for their 10th consecutive win. With over 14,000 in Capital Centre, the Kings won, 110-109. January 17—Kings road record climbed to 11-10 with back-to-back wins over Cleveland and Boston. They had the third best record in league. January 26—Maybe the Kings finest hour as they destroyed the World Champion Washington Bullets, 142-128, at Kemper Arena before 10, 301 fans. January 30—Kings waived rookie/free agent, Marlon Redmond, and re-activated nine-year veteran Lucius Allen, as the team prepared for the stretch run. February 14—Tom Burleson was tripped up by Maurice Cheeks as he and Ford got tangled in a race down the lane. Burleson injured, returned to Kansas City. February 16—Kings played Sixers in St. Louis. 19,606 saw Kansas City beat Philly, 119-104. It was the largest crowd in the 31-year franchise history. Burleson underwent surgery for torn ligaments in his knee. Kings activated Richard Washington. February 21—Ford handed out 22 assists, and tied the franchise record held by Oscar Robertson. It was the seventh best performance in NBA history. February 25—Kings beat Seattle. It was their 15th win in a row at home and a 27-6 home record, the best in NBA. Kings were 18 games over.500, their hottest percentage of the season. February 28—Darnell Hillman twisted his right knee and Kings' injuries became a factor. March 4—Kings 15 game home winning streak ended. Golden State defeated Kansas City 110-109 in overtime. Scott Wedman was injured in a one-car accident and missed seven games. March 9—The Kings had lost five in a row, their longest losing streak of the year. They had already beaten Washington twice and again won, 121-116, and swept the series with the World Champions. Ron Behagen signed a 10-day contract. March 24—Wedman was re-activated. April 4— The Kings faced the playoff bound Los Angeles Lakers in Kansas City. Norm Nixon drove the lane to put the Lakers up by two with :02 on the clock. After two timeouts, Wedman got the inbound pass from Hillman and popped in an 18-footer. Score was tied at 100, the Kings won in overtime 115-111, clinching a playoff spot for the first time since 1975 and only the second time in 11 years. April 6—With Denver beating Boston earlier in the evening, the Kings had to defeat New Jersey to stay even as leaders in the Midwest Division. Kings 23-point lead dwindled—Nets took Kings to overtime, the sixth OT in 16 games. Kings won 115-110. The final home record was 32-9, Denver and Kings were still tied for division lead. One game left – Denver was at Philadelphia, Kansas City at Indiana. April 8—Following a seesaw contest, the Kings defeated the Pacers 107-101. Denver lost in Philadelphia 112-111 and the Kansas City Kings reigned as Midwest Division Champions – their first division title in 27 years. As the team arrived at KCI that evening, they faced a crowd estimated at 1000-1200 people. April 27—Kansas City was defeated in the fifth and deciding game of the playoffs at Phoenix. Suns won game five 120-99 and defeated the Kings by a score of four games to one.

1979-80

October 8—Veterans Lucius Allen, Bob Nash and Darnell Hillman were waived to bring roster down to 11 players. Reggie King was the only rookie to make the team. October 11—A trade was completed that sent Richard Washington to Milwaukee. Kansas City received Ernie Grunfeld and a second-round draft choice from the Bucks. November 13—A crowd of better than 9,000 at Municipal Auditorium watched the Kings beat Philadelphia 76ers 110-103. In that game, 76er Darryl Dawkins caused a 70-minute game delay after exploding the backboard on a super-slam. November 21—Back-up center Mike Green broke his left forearm.November 22—Tom Burleson was reactivated to the 11 man roster and taken off injured list for first time since tearing ligaments in his knee on February 14, 1979. November 27—Kansas City traded the second-round draft pick that they received in the Washington-Grunfeld deal to Indiana for center Len Elmore. Guard Marlon Redmond was waived by the Kings to make room for Elmore. January 23—Otis Birdsong and Scott Wedman were named to the Western Conference All-Star team by the Western Conference coaches. January 24— Wedman was decked (elbow) by Jerome Whitehead of Utah in the third quarter causing multiple fractures to bones in Wedman's facial areas under the left eye. January 30—Kansas City went 13 games over.500 with a two point win at Seattle. February 2—Birdsong scored two points in the All-Star game at Landover, Maryland. Wedman was not able to attend because of his injury. February 20—Nine months after the roof of Kemper Arena caved in, 16,886 fans crowded into the arena for its rededication. Phil Ford buried an 18-foot jumper with :01 on the clock to beat the Seattle Supersonics 107-105. Wedman returned after missing 11 games with broken facial bones. March 30—The Kings closed out the regular season with victory over the Chicago Bulls 114-110. The Kings finished with a 47-35 record, 12 games over.500 and two games behind the Milwaukee Bucks in the Midwest Division. April 2—The Kings opened the best of three series at Phoenix with a 96-93 loss. April 4—Game No. 2 (at Kemper Arena) evened the series at a game a piece with the Kings winning in convincing fashion 106-96. April 6—Phoenix won the mini-series with a 114-99 win in Phoenix. May 14—Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons signed a four-year contract. May 28—Reserve guard Billy McKinney was picked up by the new Dallas Mavericks in the NBA expansion draft. June 10—Eight college players were selected in the NBA draft. First-round choice Charles "Hawkeye" Whitney, a 6'5" guard-forward from North Carolina State, was the 16th player selected overall. June 12—Backup center-forward Leon Douglas signed a five-year pact with the Kings. Douglas was a free agent from Detroit. No compensation was announced. June 20—Former Kings reserve center Len Elmore signed with Milwaukee. The Kings receive the Bucks second-round draft pick in 1981 as compensation. July 8— Kings reserve, Tom Burleson, was released by the club and inked a three-year agreement with the Atlanta Hawks. July 23—Executive Vice President and General Manager John Begzos asked NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien to step in and decide fair compensation in the Douglas signing.

September 10—Veteran guard Jo Jo White was acquired in a trade with the Golden State Warriors for future cash considerations. September 16—First-round draft pick Hawkeye Whitney signed a multi-year contract and reported to training camp. September 22—The long-awaited compensation for Leon Douglas was announced by NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien. The Kings gave Detroit its first-round draft pick in 1981 and $100,000 in cash. September 25—The team announced the acquisition of Joe C. Meriweather from the New York Knicks in a three-way deal involving New York, Cleveland and the Kings. Also picked up was a 1981 first-round pick given to the Knicks from Seattle. Bill Robinzine was traded to Cleveland. October 30—Club President Paul Rosenberg announced at a brief press conference that John Begzos was relieved of further responsibilities as Executive Vice President and General Manager. Jo Jo White announced his retirement from pro basketball. The seven-time NBA All-Star had played in the Kings' first 13 games. November 3— NBA commissioner Larry O'Brien awarded the Kings $50,000 and Atlanta's 1981 second-round draft pick for the Hawks signing of Tom Burleson. November 8—Lloyd Walton signed with the Kings. December 26—Waived forward Gus Gerard and signed free agent John Lambert. January 19—Rookie Hawkeye Whitney underwent surgery on his right knee to repair damaged ligament and cartilage. He was out for the remainder of the season. January 20—Frankie Sanders was signed to a 10-day contract. January 21—Otis Birdsong was named to the 31st Annual All-Star Team by the coaches. It was Birdsong's third straight appearance. January 23—the Kings announced Jeff Cohen would become the club's fifth Executive Vice President and General Manager at a press conference. Cohen, 38, had spent 16 years with the Boston Celtics and joined the club in early March. February 1—Playing in his third consecutive All-Star game, Birdsong was forced to leave the game at half because of the flu. February 12—Sanders signed for the remainder of the season. February 23—Ford underwent corrective surgery to repair a blowout fracture of the left orbital. He was injured when poked by Lloyd Free's thumb in a loss to Golden State the night prior. A small piece of Ford's rib was used to replace the orbital floor and he was expected to miss at least two weeks. March 10—Ford again entered Research Hospital, this time with a kidney infection, a problem diagnosed as congenital. Ford was expected to miss another seven to 10 days. April 1—Kings opened the 1981 playoffs with an overtime 98-97 win at Portland. April 3—Game No. 2 of the mini-series saw the Blazers win 124-119 in overtime at Kemper Arena. April 5—Kings took the mini-series in Portland with a decisive 104-95 win. Reggie King scored 28 points and hauled down 15 rebounds and all five starters scored in double figures. April 7—In game No. 1 of the Western Conference semi-finals Phoenix Suns won 102-80 at Veterans Coliseum. Birdsong sprained his ankle and the Kings played without both starting guards. Ernie Grunfeld took Ford's position over during the playoffs. April 8—Starting at 9:35 because of national television for the second consecutive night, the Kings entered the game with Scott Wedman and Grunfeld at the guard positions, Sam Lacey at center, and King and Leon Douglas at the forwards. KC won 88-83. The series went back to KC tied 1-1. April 10—Wedman's 19-footer with :09 left gave the Kings a 93-92 win and a 2-1 advantage. Again, Birdsong and Ford did not dress. April 12—Grunfeld scored a career playoff high 27 points in leading the Kings to a third straight playoff win, 102-95 over the Suns. KC led the semi-final series 3-1. April 15—The Suns shelled the Kings 101-89 in Phoenix in Game No. 5. April 17—Game No. 6 at Kemper Arena offered an opportunity to wrap up the semi-finals in front of the home crowd. Phoenix had different ideas and won 81-76. KC shot only .38 from the field, while playing just eight people. April 19—Game No. 7 on Easter Sunday in Phoenix – the Kings won the deciding semi-final game 95-88. Birdsong returned for 15 minutes, despite a tender ankle. April 21—The Kings played the 11th game in 21 days and only two days after winning the semi-finals. The Western Conference Finals vs. Houston started in Kemper Arena. In a surprise move before the start of the game, Ford returned to the starting lineup for the first time in nearly two months. Houston won 98-78. April 22—KC evened the best-of-seven conference finals with an 88-79 win behind King's career playoff high 31 points. The Kings played only seven people. April 24—The Rockets built a commanding 72-58 lead after three quarters and hung on to win 92-88, despite a 30-20 fourth quarter burst by the Kings. April 26—Again a lineup change with Birdsong and Grunfeld starting at the guards, but Houston won 100-89 and took a 3-1 advantage. April 29—Game No. 5 and the Western Conference Championship belonged to Houston with a 97-88 win at Kemper Arena. The Kings ended the playoffs with a 7-8 record. The 15 games in the same year was a new Kansas City record. The seven playoff wins was the most in the franchise history, with four wins coming on the road and three at Kemper Arena. In all, the Kings used four different starting lineups in 15 playoff games, only Wedman, King, Lacey and Grunfeld started all of them.

June 9—In less than eight hours the Kings traded or released all-stars Otis Birdsong and Scott Wedman. The club exercised the right of first refusal and matched Birdsong's offer from Cleveland and then traded him to the New Jersey Nets for Cliff Robinson. The Nets also received KC's second-round draft pick, the 44th overall. Later that same day, actually just before trade deadline, the Kings received Cleveland's first round draft pick, the 17th overall, by pledging not to exercise their right of first refusal in matching the Cavs offer for Wedman. July 30—Signed six-year veteran forward-center Joe C. 1990 DRAFT REVIEW

The Sacramento Kings made history in the 1990 NBA College Draft by becoming the first team ever to have four first-round selections. Two days prior to the draft the Kings held the No. 7 pick, they then traded Pervis Ellison to receive the 23rd pick from Utah. Rodney McCray was then traded to Dallas for the 14th and 18th selections. Here is a recap of the first-round draft choices from the 1990 college draft.

1. Derrick Coleman (New Jersey); 2. Gary Payton (Seattle); 3. Chris Jackson (Denver); 4. Dennis Scott (Orlando); 5. Kendall Gill (Charlotte); 6. Felton Spencer (Minnesota); 7. Lionel Simmons (Sacramento); 8. Bo Kimble (L.A. Clippers); 9. Willie Burton (Miami); 10. Rumeal Robinson (Atlanta); 11. Tyrone Hill (Golden State); 12. Alec Kessler (Houston); 13. Loy Vaught (L.A. Clippers); 14. Travis Mays (Sacramento); 15. Dave Jamerson (Miami); 16. Terry Mills (Milwaukee)*; 17. Jerrod Mustaf (New York); 18. Duane Causwell (Sacramento); 19. Dee Brown (Boston); 20.
